Catching Cold?

MINTOL OFTEN PREVENTS PNEUMONIA

It is surprising to read in the daily papers treatments that our forefathers and grandmothers used for coughs, colds, catarrh and bronchial affections. It impresses the writer with the fact that modern scientific research had not advanced an iota, when, as a matter of fact, there have been wonderful advancements in the treatment of all diseases and conditions that bring on disease. Just because grandmother used old-fashioned mustard blisters for relieving colds and congested conditions it is no sane reason why we should resort to the old antiquated methods when there have been wonderful improvements and new discoveries of remedies which are far more effective and less painful to use.

SPECIAL NOTICE:—A druggist said the other day that a customer came into his store and inquired for a mustard plaster and he suggested to the customer that they try MINTOL as a more modern treatment for congested conditions. The customer accepted the druggist's suggestion and in twenty-four hours the same customer came into the druggist's store and said, "how long have you handled MINTOL?" The druggist replied that he had been handling it for some little time and the customer frankly stated that he would never use a mustard cream or plaster for colds, coughs or any congested condition again. There are thousands of others who would say the same as this druggist's customer did, if they would only try MINTOL. If your druggist cannot supply you we will mail you a jar on receipt of price, 35c, 60c and $1.25 a jar. THE HOME RELIEF LABORATORIES, MALDEN, MASS.

BELGIAN GIRL SENTENCED AS A SPY IN U. S.

Escaped the Germans and Now On Her Way West

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Miss Marie Louise Gombier, a Belgian girl of 21, who escaped from a convent at the beginning of the war when the Germans were shelling Broesses, and was captured by them, and sentenced to be shot as a spy has arrived in this country to make her home in the United States with an American Red Cross nurse whom she met abroad. Miss Gombier arrived aboard the Lorraine, and was met by George P. Smith, who will send her on to her new home in Los Angeles, Cal.

After Miss Gombier's escape from the convent she took refuge in her father's house, some distance from Broesses, not knowing that it was used as a billet by the Germans. She found a wireless plant in the house and was destroying it with an axe when several Germans entered and made her a prisoner.

She was quickly sentenced to be shot as a spy, but a German officer interceded with the commanding officer and she was put in prison. She managed to escape and reach the British lines, where she attached herself to the Ninety-fifth Canadians as a nurse.

Throughout the war and until the signing of the armistice Miss Gombier continued her work at the front, in Paris after the preliminary peace articles had been signed. Here she met Mrs. L. Dowly, of Los Angeles, a Red Cross nurse, and the American woman induced Miss Gombier, now without a family, to agree to make her future home with her. Mrs. Dowly returned to the United States a few weeks ago and left word with Mr. Smith to meet Miss Gombier and see her safely on her way to the Pacific coast.

Miss Gombier was enthusiastic about her future home. She said she wanted to forget war's horrors in America and to become an American citizen.

"I am not alone in the great love that all Belgians feel toward the United States," she said. "My native land will forever think of the United States as the country that saved their own land to them."

MUSEUM NOTES

The varied exhibits at the Fairbanks Museum have received several additions recently through the courtesy of interested townspeople and friends. Mr. Harry W. Randall has loaned a "Civil and Executive Officers' Assistant" printed in New Haven, Conn., in 1793. Specimens of the poppies of Flanders field, given by Mr. Don C. Stiles, are now in the case of souvenirs of the Great War. Master Arthur Converse of the Passumpsic graded schools has presented perfect specimens of Cerisy's Sphinx Moth and the Long-horned Beetle.

The flower tables still retain the interest of visitors. Just now twelve specimens of common mosses and lichens are shown as well as the usual display of ferns and flowering plants. The late-flowering orchids: ladies' tresses and rattlesnake plantains, are now at their best, and St. Johnsbury is proud to be able to show all the species of these known to grow in Vermont. The flower list since August 18 is: Rattlesnake root, late goldenrod and fruit of smooth or meadow rose, Aug. 20; prairie sunflower, Aug. 21; round-fruited lady fern, peppermint, white snakeroot, tall white or panicle aster, narrow-leaved gentian, yellowish nodding ladies' tresses, and fruits of Jack-in-the-pulpit, false lily-of-the-valley, cranberry tree, wild yellow lily and pine-sap, Aug. 23; blue-stemmed goldenrod, Aug. 26.

UNIVERSALIST MEET

Look Forward to Important Session to be Held at Morrisville

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 29.—The Universalists of Vermont and Quebec are looking forward to the annual session of the affiliated organization, which will be held here on Sept. 1-4, with unusual interest. It will be the first session of the young people of the denomination since many of its more active members have returned from participation in the great world war and a new viewpoint is expected to be manifested in the conduct of the convention. Rev. Harold D. G. Scott, who will give the opening sermon, is recognized as the leading exponent of the more radical school of the denomination and his address is expected to strike the keynote for his following. The address of Tuesday morning by Rev. E. A. Lewis of Lyndonville will set forth the ideals of the younger men of the church along more conservative lines.

The session of the Woman's Missionary association on Tuesday afternoon and evening will be a jubilee session. The women of the church met for the first time in Morrisville 24 years ago and they have been active in all work of the church. During the past year, however, they have not only succeeded in completing the great effort of more than meeting the quota for the woman's jubilee fund, but every branch of the work has been carried to a more than usually successful conclusion. The presence of Miss Agnes Hathaway, who soon returns to the mission field in Japan; of Mr. Marietta Wilkins, the national president, and of Mrs. Wilkins' adopted daughter, a Japanese girl educated by the women of the Universalist church, will make a record meeting.

Perhaps the real interest of Universalists in Vermont and Quebec is in the policy which will be declared by the convention which holds its business session on Wednesday and Thursday. The denomination has recently carried to a successful conclusion the great drive for men, money, missionaries and ministers. The coming session of the general convention at Baltimore will decide what action the church as a whole shall take in view of its new resources, and that policy will be determined by the voice of the various state conventions. Vermont, which considers itself the founder of modern Universalism, which has recently celebrated the founding of Goddard seminary and is about to celebrate the founding of Norwich University, two of the main achievements of Universalism along educational lines, realizes that it must decide what policy it will support at the session of the general convention.

The matter of the policy of the denomination along the lines of church federation will also be determined at this session. The notable speakers of the session will be Rev. Richard Eddy Sykes, D. D., president of St. Lawrence university; perintendent of the denomination; Rev. John Smith Lowe, general superintendent; Rev. Harold Marshall, manager of the Universalist Publishing house, and the leading opponent of the policy of church federation in the denomination; W. H. Jeffrey, state commissioner of charities and probation, and Rev. I. P. Booth, D. D., formerly active in the affairs of the convention.
